

This is the only defense a lot of us have against annoying phone calls at all times of the day. We have the right of free choice and if we choose to cancel a company's services or purchase items it is supposed to be our choice and not some high-pressure person. Keep the No-Call rules as they are please.